

MINISTER
MINISTRY OF EDUCATION
GOVERNMENT OF THE
PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF BANGLADESH

I am pleased to be present at the Convocation 2004 of the East West University.

Education is the basic ingredient for the socio-economic development of a country. Universities can play a major role in this by providing higher education of high quality and relevance. It is only with the application of modern knowledge, state-of-the-art technology and an alert mind that a country like Bangladesh can redouble its march towards progress, peace and prosperity.

The Private Universities Act, 1992 was passed by the Parliament under the dynamic foresighted leadership of Prime Minister Begum Khaleda Zia with a view to encourage private sector provision of higher education.

I am pleased to know that East West University, is endeavoring to provide quality and relevant education at the tertiary level. I wish them continued success in their efforts.

I am pleased to extend my greetings to the fresh graduates. It is my hope that they will succeed in their chosen field of expertise and knowledge.
