Message

I am happy to learn that East West University is organizing its 11th convocation ceremony, another landmark reached by the university. Already noted as one of the leading Private Universities of Bangladesh, East West University has always been at the forefront in disseminating quality tertiary education in Bangladesh. Since its inception in 1996, the university has not only remained true to its motto of providing excellence in education but has also made notable contributions to many spheres of national life. At this propitious moment, I acknowledge the contributions made by East West University and wish the university an even better and smoother future.

I feel privileged to congratulate all graduating students, the proud parents and friends and thank the teachers and staff of East West University who have played key parts in materializing the dream of these graduates. It is surely an unforgettable occasion for all of us concerned. My best wishes for you as you step forward into the future.
