

EWU merit scholarship: "Be global citizens"-says Foreign Minister

Mr. Abul Hassan Mahmood Ali, Minister, Ministry of Foreign Affairs urged the merit students to 'be global citizens' in his speech at the Merit Scholarship ceremony at East West University, Aftabnagar. This event was organized on 22 June 2014. He further emphasized that we need to improve our quality of education in order to reduce the deficit between East and West.

The Foreign Minister mentioned that, we need to ensure the UN's MDGs agenda about education for all. He added that through quality education we can turn Bangladesh into an enlightened, knowledge-based society, and fulfill our mission to build a middle income economy by 2021, and a developed one by 2041. To achieve that goal, higher learning institutes of the private sector can play a major role. The Minister regretted that most of the private universities failed to fulfill this demand. Only a few institutions like East West University are exceptions.

Dr. Mohammed Farashuddin, Chairperson of the Board of Trustees of the University and former Governor of Bangladesh Bank, stated that women of this country through quality education can contribute to the establishment of gender equality. He mentioned that 30 percent of total enrolment at East West University comprises female students, who get more than 60 percent of the scholarships.

The Vice-Chancellor of East West University Professor Ahmed Shafee congratulated the 93 students who got merit scholarships in Spring and Summer Semester in 2014. He emphasized that scholars also need to be honest to lead the nation.

Members of the Board of Trustees of the University, the Pro-Vice Chancellor, the Treasurer, Deans of different faculties, Chairpersons of different departments, Registrar, teachers, staff, scholar students and their parents participated in the ceremony.

BoT Member's Views on EWU – Dr. Muhammad A. Mannan

What do you think about the current functioning of East West University?

East West University has gained more recognition with the completion of its permanent campus. The buzzing of young academics in pursuit of knowledge, and multifarious activities at all times in the imposing red brick edifice depicts a well functioning institution that has adopted 'excellence in education' as its goal. With almost eight thousand five hundred students enrolled in 25 programs, 331 faculty members (206 fulltime and 125 adjunct), about 225 staff in 10 academic and administrative departments, EWU has come a long way from a very modest beginning. During its journey, EWU scrupulously adhered to all relevant Government rules and regulations, and is in full compliance with the provisions of the Private University Act 2010 in terms of infrastructure, campus facilities and management process. Founders of the university and its management may take particular satisfaction from the fact that all these were achieved through judicious use of resources mobilized by the sponsors from their own funds and contribution of students through tuition fees; EWU has not been beneficiary of handouts from any quarters or large donor endowments, and therefore has been able to charter its own course.

Please see page 2 for the last part

I am honored to be associated with this institution of learning which has accomplished much in a short period. Considerable challenges remain in the management of private universities in Bangladesh, as normative practices are yet to be established in many aspects, even Government guidelines are still being refined. In this evolving context, a major concern that requires continuous attention of EWU is ensuring high quality education that it imparts to its students. Linked with these are issues of recruitment and retention of teaching faculty, rigours of academic discipline, and effective management oversights. EWU struggles in these areas; the pool of competent faculty in the country is small for a large number of competing private universities and we are at times disadvantaged by better endowed and more commercially run comparators. Management needs to be strict in setting high academic standards, and ensuring adherence to these by teachers and students alike. Management should be more prompt in implementing various academic and administrative decisions. For this, consideration needs to be given to identify areas where further delegation of authority is warranted without compromising accountability. Currently, too many matters of routine nature are referred to the Board of Trustees (BoT) which can better serve EWU by focusing on strategic decisions and medium-term vision.

How would you like to see the University in the next ten years?

EWU is regularly adjudged by various agencies and authorities - national and international - to be among the top performing private universities in Bangladesh. The first priority of EWU has to be to sustain this evaluation and enhance its standing in the comity of universities. It is a fact of life that the lowest common denominator often sets the standard and determines the image of a group, be it among people or organizations. Private universities in general are not held in high regard because of laggards with poor academic and ethical standards. This public image especially hurts leaders in the field like EWU, and even more its students. How do we distinguish ourselves from others? EWU has to continually establish its credentials and raise its profile. Concerted efforts are needed in this regard from faculty, students and alumni. A university is mostly known by its products, that is, academic publications of its faculty members and the quality of its graduates as viewed in the job market. Emphasis on publications by faculty members may be specified more formally, and networking with potential employers may be further facilitated by management and the growing EWU alumni which has so far played but a minor role. Collaborative arrangements with international institutions of repute should also be pursued more actively.

EWU also needs to grow by expanding its areas of operation. Horizon of knowledge is forever expanding, and to remain relevant by catering to the changing market requirements, EWU has to offer its students cutting edge knowledge. I believe that there is consensus in the Board that EWU should not strive to be the largest private university in Bangladesh but to be the best in what it offers. It will be important for EWU to be involved in subjects of emerging importance, for instance, biotechnology, genetic engineering, informatics, health and biosciences, nursing and hospital administration, and so on. As a private university, EWU resources will always be limited; hence specialization in few areas of impact has to be the strategy. In ten years the name EWU should be synonymous with high quality education in its chosen areas of specialization. The process must begin now.

How would you advise your students to make better use of their time?

Students get routinely exhorted all around to make best efforts at the university in preparation for their working life. Needless to say, it is extremely important that students realize the significance of these formative years. What usually is left unsaid but is of critical importance is the difference in the mode of teaching from school to university level, and many students find it difficult to make the transition smoothly. Students enter university as adults, and have to be proactive in getting the best education they can get. One-on-one attention is not available or possible and contact with the teacher is not as personal as it was in school. EWU students have to be aware of this, know their rights, and ask questions so that they get the best education for which they pay dearly. Take charge, is what I would advise.

EWU is well placed to help, as its library has gathered considerable print and digital resources for the use of students. I will be pleased to see demands from students for more research, study materials, facilities and will urge management to address such requests on a priority basis.

EWU has very generous financial assistance program. I would like to urge students to appraise themselves of assistance offered, submit applications on a timely basis, and spare their parents as much as possible from doing such chores on their behalf.

FACULTY UPDATE

Department of Business Administration

On 26 June of this year Summer the Department of Business Administration arranged a seminar on the topic 'An Alternative Investigation of Weak Form efficiency in Dhaka Stock Exchange Based on Technical Analysis', as a reflection of the continuous knowledge development program.

Mr. Mahbulul Haque Khan, Senior Lecturer of the department presented the research paper. In his presentation, Mr. Haque stated that in general Dhaka Stock Exchange seems to be weak for efficiency. It is one of the main reasons why very few technical studies have been conducted on DSE trade rules. He found in his study that short length moving averages can significantly outperform for buy and hold strategy. It also signals the return predictability of trading rules in the Dhaka Stock Exchange market.

Professor Dr. Tanbir Ahmed Chowdhury, Dean, Faculty of Business and Economics and Chairperson, DBA, inaugurated the session with a welcome speech. Mr. Maruf Rahman Maxim, Lecturer of the department rendered his hand in organizing the event.

The Department of Business Administration arranged the second seminar of Summer on 22 May. The topic was 'An Integration of D-8 Countries with the Focus on Competitiveness, Opulence and Economic Accretion via the Advancement of SMEs: Bangladesh Perspective and Scope of Cooperation' Mr. Md. Shakib Hossain, Lecturer of the department was the presenter of the paper.

Md. Shakib emphasized on the point that the very objective on which D8 was founded remained substantially unmet unlike the EU and ASEAN. The presenter referred to lack of political will as one of the main reasons for the limitations. Mr. Shakib suggested SME can prove to be a global player for alleviating poverty through employment generation, creating opportunity and exploring resources for D-8 Countries.

Seminar on "An Alternative Investigation of Weak Form efficiency in Dhaka Stock Exchange Based on Technical Analysis" organized by Department of Business Administration

Professor Ahmed Shafee, Vice Chancellor of the University graced the seminar with his presence as the Chief Guest. He commented that D-8 countries have one common factor, that is, large Muslim populations, but geographical separation, corruption and other factors can impede integration.

Professor Dr. Tanbir Ahmed Chowdhury, Dean, Faculty of Business and Economics and Chairperson, DBA, under whose leadership the seminar series reminded the audience that the objective of the seminar was to enhance the sharing of research knowledge among the faculty members and students.

Field Trip to Sirajganj

A field trip to Shahjadpur upazilla of Sirajganj district was arranged on 30 May, 2014 by the Economics Department of East West University for the students of Research Methodology (ECO490) as per course requirement. The field trip was attended by 33 students along with three staff members and a faculty member. The trip aimed to provide students with off-site experience and firsthand practical knowledge about data collection through the use of comprehensive questionnaire.

The enthusiasm was apparent from the start. The students gleefully collected data on "An Economic Analysis of Labor Demand and Household Income for Dairy Producers in Sirajganj District". The students worked incessantly to collect data, through integration with the locals, adopting door-to-door and field-to-field approach. The instructions set by the course faculty, Dr. Basanta Kumar Barmon, and the cooperation from the local people added success to the trip.

The trip will be commemorated by the students as they not only worked hard to make it successful but also savored every moment of it. Apart from data collection, they had fun by swimming, hiking around the place, visiting some historical sites, and participating in lunch and breakfast together. The students remain ever grateful to East West University for bestowing them with this privilege, and hope to further enrich their practical knowledge with future field trips.

Editorial

East West University has again proved itself why it is the best private university in Bangladesh in terms of research and publication. Among the 81 private universities in the country, East West University has won three HEQEP projects, which is worth approximately taka 3.75 crore (TK.37,500,000/=). The elaboration of HEQEP is Higher Education Quality Enhancement Project, which is an initiative of the World Bank, to improve the quality of teaching and research at tertiary level. The titles of the projects for which EWU was awarded funds are as follows:

- Knowledge Transfer and Capacity Development of Academic Staff (awarded to EWUCRT)
- Covariate Dependent Models for Correlated Outcomes in Longitudinal Data Analysis (Department of Applied Statistics)
- Optimising Classroom Learning through Understanding Student Psychology (Department of Business Administration)

No other private university in Bangladesh has ever won three HEQEP projects. This achievement is a testament to academic excellence of EWU; and this university is leading the way in terms of research and publications among the private institutions of higher learning in this country. By winning three HEQEP projects, EWU has again proved the strength of its faculty members and personnel. It should be mentioned that EWU has created an environment where academics, administrative personnel, as well as library staff can conduct research and publish in academic journals. Faculty development fund, staff development fund and student welfare provide funds for EWU academics, staff and students to present academic papers at international conferences. East West University Centre for Research and Training (EWUCRT) provides funds to conduct research. Furthermore, EWUCRT provides various types of in-house training to develop academic excellence of EWU faculty members and personnel.

The consistent support extended by the various bodies of EWU has provided a congenial atmosphere for research and publication. This has enabled EWU to be ranked as the top private university three times (July 2007, July 2008, September 2013) by Webometrics Ranking of World Universities, be adjudged as the top research based university in 2009 by Research Bangla (RB) (xa.yimg.com/kq/groups/13272772/42990141/name/Summary), and now in 2014 be awarded with funding for three HEQEP projects. All of these achievements over the last couple of years suggest that EWU is growing from strength to strength, and is on its way towards becoming one of the best private universities in the sub-continent.
